Lynda Jeppesen, VP, Larry H. Miller Group of Companies

After owning her own management consulting business for 10 years and working in the health insurance industry for 17 years, Lynda F.

Jeppesen became Senior Vice President of Human Resources for the Larry H. Miller Group of Companies. For the past ten+ years, she has overseen employee benefits, employee relations, and strategic policies for the Miller operations in primarily seven states. Along with the Sports and Entertainment Division, the Group employs approximately 7,000+ full and part time employees. Lynda has designed and implemented a Group wellness initiative with a focus on improving health and reducing medical claims costs.

A University of Utah graduate, Jeppesen also earned an MBA from Westminster College. She published "Sales Service Success" in 1996. In 2004, she earned Senior Professional in Human Resource designation and in 2005 received the LHM Management Excellence Award. Jeppesen served on the Murray City Civil Service Commission and is former president of the Utah Chapter of the American Society of Training and Development.

Lynda is a life-long learner who enjoys reading, traveling and learning about other cultures. She is interested and active in various sports and health-related issues. Along with her husband, Lynda resides in Salt Lake City, Utah.